inter-party wrangling, stressed

KHARTOUM, May 27 (Agencies) - Sudan has recalled its ambassador in Damascus in answer to Syria's protests against the visit to Khartoum of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, the Sudanese news agency SUNA said today.

Sudan will also recall the staff of its emhassy in Beirut for security reasons. The embassy was attacked with a rocket-propelled grenade while Mr. Sadat was in Khartoum.

Syria called on the Arah League last week to take action against Sudan for inviting Mr. Sadat, saying the visit violated Arab League resolutions boycotting Egypt for its peace treaty with Israel. Syria said its amhassador to Khartoum, who left the Sudanese capital three months ago, would not be returning.

South Yemen today called for an urgent meeting of the Arah League to impose sanctions against Sudan for its moves to consolidate relations with Egypt, according to an official statement.

The government of Democratic Yemen, while condemning the steps taken by the Sudanese regime...asks the Arah League to hold an urgent meeting for sanctions against the regime of Sudanese President Jaafar Numeiri which violated the resolutions of the Arab summit and all the Arabs collectively," the statement said.

The South Yemeni statement said Mr. Numeiri's decision to resume close relations with Egypt "is regarded as part of American and Zionist hids to implement the Camp David plans and to strike at Arab solidarity achieved against these agrcements."

Israeli says

WASHINGTON, May 27 (A.P.) - An Israeli human rights activist said today that during the past year Israeli settlers have increased oppressive measures against Palestinians in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Mr. Israel Shahak, chairman of the Human and Civil Rights League in Israel, said that prior to March, 1980 Israeli military governors in the occupied territories had to issue special orders based on security reasons for the seizure of any land. Landholders had two to three months' notice in which to contest the action or try to arrange a settlement, he said. Since then, Mr. Shahak said, land has been confiscated by declaring it state land and giving the landholders only three weeks to contest the seizure.

Mr. Shahak charged tbat Israeli settlers in the occupied territories had been hrutalising Palestinian villagers. He said some Americans and other foreigners, while staying at Israeli settlements, had participated in tactics aimed at intimidating Arabs.

Mr. Shahak, speaking to a Foreign Policy magazine press conference, said he favours a Palestinian state in the occupied territories with East Jerusalem as its capital. He said be believes Jerusalem should be an open city but divided politically.

He said he plans to meet withofficials of the human rights bureau in the U.S. State Department and with Labour Department officials.

The Theogor-Schneller School is a branch of the missionary society which Johann Ludwig Sch-neller began 120 years ago with the Syrian Orphanage in Jer-usalem. The old building of the orphanage in Jerusalem has now been transformed into a garrison for Israeli soldiers.

The Syrian orphanage was dosed down during World War II, and was reopened in 1966 in Amman.

WHILE HIS Majesty King Hussein and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev were issuing a joint call in Moscow for an international conference to resolve the Arab-Israeli dispute, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was telling an audience in Tel Aviv that Israel and the United States are in an "alliance" to prevent the incursion of communism into the Middle East. The spectacle of U.S. special envoy Philip Habib returning to Washington empty-handed is the crowning touch to these simultaneous events sbowing the catastrophic long-term consequences of the present American-Israeli attitude to the Palestinian issue and the larger Middle East situation. It would be difficult to find a country that has been as true a friend of the West as Jordan has been during the past 50 years; and, in the same vem, it would be hard to find an Arab country that has been more disappointed by the West's -- specifically the United States'

- performance in the Mideast during the last decade. The overwhelming Arab consensus is for a global peace conference, attended by the PLO, Israel and all other concerned parties and under the joint chairmanship of the United States, the Soviet Union and the United Nations. For the Americans and the Israelis to respond by reaffirming their alliance of outcasts to keep the Soviets out of the Middle East is an infantile and barrowingly simplistic approach to the matter. The American-Israeli attitude can only lead to a new catastrophe for American interests that will make the events in Iran last year look like a picnic. This is the lesson of history and logic. This is why Jordan and the Soviet Union want a comprehensive Mideast conference, before things get worse than they are today. Doesn't anybody in Washington understand? Has the suffering of the embassy siege ordeāl all been in vain?

This business of soaring interest rates in most developed western countries is cushioning some of the ailing currencies and is giving them a chance to restore, at least temporarily, their value and respect. This is naturally done by encouraging many currency holders in foreign countries to redeposit them in the banks of the issuing country.

There are certain push factors for the flight of foreign currencies from developing countries as well. In many of those countries, interest rates are suppressed or investment opportunities are limited, thus giving the savers the opportunity to smuggle or expatriate their savings abroad with guiltless feelings.

The Central Bank of Jordan, realising that the inducement and promise of profit abroad is too strengthened by the Central strong to resist, recently has stepped in to limit the outflow of foreign exchange. It must be said, however, that Jordan's foreign exchange policy is liberal and that foreign reserves are very adequate. Yet, while we are borrowing from abroad to fmance some of our development projects at commercial rates, it would be self-defeating to allow domestic funds to flow out at 16 per cent while we are sometimes borrowing at more than that.

The information was not independently confirmed. Nearly all Western media are barred from Afghanistan and foreign embassies have difficulty getting data about the rugged countryside outside of the capital, much of it under rebel control.

The report from Kabul gave no precise casualty figures. The technique described -- cutting off the Soviets from the mountaintops -was reminiscent of that used against several Russian forays into the rebel-held Panjsher Valley, northeast of Kabul in 1980. Another report from the Kabul source told of devastating Soviet shelling and bombardment of villages in Logar Valley, southeast of the capital, in an apparent major campaign to secure a main highway and halt the flow of rebel arms and ammunition into the Kabul region. The unconfirmed report said casualties were high on

About 500 Soviet tanks and armoured cars were sent deep into the Logar Valley with the apparent intention of destroying thousands of houses along both sides of the highway to Koshi, 76 kilometres southeast of Kabul, the report said.

The Russians shelled the villages by day but withdrew at night to the main highway to avoid rebel ambushes, it added.

Most of Logar, a strategic pro-vince between Kabul and the Pakistan border, has long been reported under insurgent control.

The latest heavy fighting was said to have been triggered by the rebels' recent ambush and capture of about 200 tribesmen -- half of whom were killed -- arriving from Paktia province to join the government militia.

British TV crew detained by Syrian troops in Lebanon

BE1RUT, May 27 (R) - A British milhary attache travelled today to east Lebanon in an attempt to win the release of a British television crew detained by Syrian troops, a Brinsh embassy spokesman said. Deputy Defence Attache Major Anthony Box went to Shtoura, headquarters of the all-Syrian Arab Deterrent Force (ADF) in Lebanon, the spokesman said. The crew from the independent Thames Television company was detained in the Bekaa Valley on Monday while attempting to film the ADF. It had travelled there from neighbouring Syria. Thames TV, in an announcement in London yesterday, named the crew as producer Norman Fenton, reporter Peter Gill, cameraman Jim Howlett and sound recordist Stan Clarke.

NATO general warns new commitments reduce 'credibility of our deterrent'

BRUSSELS, May 27, (R) - The top NATO commander in Europe. Gen. Bernard Rogers, said today that new commitments in the Gulf are stretching even thinner the West's already scarce military resources in the face of a steady Soviet buildup. He said some member countries were redeploying their forces and resources within the European theatre to locations outside NATO's boundaries because of the threat to vital collective and national interests there. He was referring to moves such as the sending of one of the two U.S. aircraft carriers in the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean and appeals by Washington for the allies to pick up the slack in Europe. "For me, all this adds up to the credibility of our deterrent being reduced," Gen. Rogers said in an article for the NATO Review monthly made available ahead of publication. "We must accelerate and reinforce our present efforts to prevent the growing imbalance in military capabilities from becoming so great as to become unmanageable and beyond restoration," he

Iran expects to get U.S. arms paid for by the Shah

BELGRADE, May 27 (A.P.) --- The Iranian government expected that after the release of American hostages it will obtain arms which were paid by the government of late Shah Reza Pahlavi, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported today from Tehran. Tanjug reported that the governor of the Central Iranian Bank, Mr. Nobari, a follower of President Abol Hassan Bani-Sadr, wrote the parliament a letter requesting examination of the "Algerian agreement" on release of hostages and the statement of State Minister Behzad Nabavi, who conducted negotiations for release of the 52 American hostages. Tanjug said Mr. Nobari, who was named governor of the bank by President Bani-Sadr, is about to lose his post because according to a new law the premier is in authority to name the bank governor. Tanjug said that according to Tehran evening paper "Engelab Eslam?", the governor asked deputies of parliament to examine the whole problem of release of hostages and particularly the statement of Mr. Nabavi at the time that " if Iranian demands are accepted. Iran will get arms which were paid long ago". Tanjug said that Iran badly needs spare parts and ammunition for American made arms, especially for Phantom planes as well as "Tom Cat" equipment. for its war with Iraq.

Increase in Russian ships in Med. 'does not worry' U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 27 1A.P.) - The Russians have increased the number of their navy ships in the Mediterranean but "there is no unusual pattern of their movements that we know of," Pentagon spokesman Mr. Henry Catto said vesterday.

"There has been an increase in the number of Soviet vessels but it is not out of the normal range" of fleet strength maintained by the Russians in the Mediterranean, Mr. Catto told newsmen.

Last week he spoke of the Russian fleet totalling some 30 ships of various kinds in those waters while other sources said that some of the increase in Soviet naval strength was accounted for by the appearance of a three-ship naval force in the Mediterranean enroute from a visit somewhere undisclosed. Sources did not say whether this force, will stay in the Mediterranean or continue onto the Black Sea, as is usual practice for such a force after distant dep-women diligently dig and pan for gold under the scorching sun of Sudan's equatorial bush. The rewards, however, often go to outsiders who appreciate the true value of the precious metal.

A shanty town has sprung up in the mining region, and dozens of gold hunters return from the area with the precious yellow metal in cloth sacks.

The scramble to buy gold has diverted most of the truck traffic from Kenya to Sudan as near as possible to the remote region near the village of Labour, in extreme southern Sudao. "I just exchanged a small tra-then he popped a knotted white cloth from bis belt and dropped it . on the seat. He took the radio in exchange. I still can't believe it."

"It happens all the time," said Mr. Klauss Bori, a Danish citizen who owns a construction firm in 60th Kenya and Juba, a Sudanese town 290 kilometres from Labour.

In Khartoum, the Sudanese capital, officials of the ministries of mining and industry say the gold is not considered commercially exploitable.

Labour, however, is prospering and the Toposa tribesmen are better off, even if they trade foolishly. A thriving black market has developed hecause the government attempted to fix the prices at $160 an ounce, but Kenyan merchants offered $450.

Yamani on oil prices 'Why should I go up if they don't come down?'

GENEVA, May 27 (R) — OPEC was sharply divided today after Saudi Arabia held out against demands that it stop flooding the market with cut-price crude in its bid to stabilise the world price of Conference sources said that during a meeting of the oil exporter group which ended last night Saudi Oil Minister Ahmad Zaki Yamani refused to join others in a round of production cuts of at least 10 per cent.

He also declined to raise his price of $32 a barrel. OPEC's lowest, unless top-price exporters trimmed rates which they refused to do.

The current OPEC president, Indonesian Oil Minister Subroto. told reporters that on prices and production levels "the official line is that the Saudis did not commit themselves to anything."

But he added that between now and OPEC's next price-fixing session in Abu Dhabi on December 101 "we clearly hope that the Saudis will do something" to raise their price and cut output from around 10 million barrels a day (b/d).

Last year the 110 full or ass-ociate members of IATA made an operating loss of about $1.5 billion on international services. A meeting of financial experts in Sydney last month predicted that 1981 could be equally bad.

'The airlines' real concern is that, quite apart from making a loss, they do not have the money to invest in new, more fuel-efficient aircraft," IATA spokesman John Brindley said.

ECONOMIC NEWS BRIEFS

Japan's trade revenues boosted ...

TOKYO, May 27(R) — Japan's six biggest trading bouses, which handle everything from ships to pencils, boosted their revenues to a huge $303.4 billion over the past year, according to their annual reports released this week.

But the six firms, whose globe-circling operations are being studied by other countries envious of Japan's export success, managed a mixed profit performance and on a combined basis did not match the previous year's level.

The Sogo Shosha, as the trading houses are known, largely attributed the increase in revenues in the 12 months ended March 31 to better business outside Japan.

Using an exchange rate of 210 yen to the dollar -- the yen rate has fluctuated widely in the past two years - their revenues were up by 18 per cent from the previous year's $256.3 billion.

Mitsubishi Corporation, with turnover of more than $66 bil-lion, continued to lead the field as Japan's biggest trading firm. It was followed by Mitsui and Co., with over $60 billion in total trade, and, in order, by C. Itoh, Marubeni Sumitomo and Nisshoiwai.

... and oil stockpile expanded

TOKYO, May 27 (R) - Japan, which has to import nearly all its energy needs, plans to take advantage of the present glut on the world oil market to expand its stockpile of crude oil and oil The International Trade and Industry Ministry (MITI) officials said they hoped to boost the state stockpile, kept in idle tankers near Japan and on the high seas off lwo Jima, to 62.9 million barrels during the current financial year, which started in April, from 47.2 million barrels.

Japan also aims to triple the stockpile during the next few years to 188.7 millon barrels, of which about 110 million barrels will be stored in land bases.

At present Japan has a total stockpile of 458.4 million barrels, enough for about 117 days on the basis of fiscal 1980 consumption. This includes about 411 million barrels in private stockpiles.

The breeding ground has nine separate eoclosures with pleotiful grass, trees and streams and access to sleeping and hihernation holes in a man-made hill. The commune has built a fish pond to hreed eels, loach and frogs to feed the snakes and ensures a supply of hirds and other small animals. It has even hegun to hreed turtles in a special pond as companies for the snakes - an odd partnership often found in the wild. "If we kept the snakes in cages, as we keep other animals in zoos, they would die before long," said Mr. Wen Jiancai, the 46-year-old manager. He said the farm's output is still fairly small and most of it goes to neighbouring districts. However, drug companies in other provioces have become interested and have sent buyers for samples and to negotiate contracts. "So business is looking up," said Mr. Wen Jiancai. "Soon we hope to expand the farm and take on more staff." Some of the most valuable snakes are also the most unlovely the aggressive "silver ring" for example, known in science as Bungarus multicinctus (Blyth), the Cohra. He listed two of the best herbal antidotes for snake hites -- the half lotus and seven-leaves-one-flower. They are pounded to a pulp and the juice is applied direct to the wound or drunk by the hite victim.

According to Dr. Zhou Cha-ofan, of the Research Institute of Traditional Chinese Medicine in Peking, technicians have identified a substance in a fluid secreted by venomous snakes which could be helpful in research into immunology. The meat of the black beauty contains a relaxant that calms the nerves and relieves pain and paralysis and another element that reduces the swelling of rheumatic joints. But a lot more research is needed before these substances are properly understood, Dr. Zhou said.

Snake meat is usually smoked and dried and then soaked in wine and dried a second time. Finally, it is boiled with medicinal herbs into a soup.

"Three Snake Wine" and "Five Snake Wine" made from the meat of different types of snake and 18 medicinal herbs, is a big seller among sufferers from rhcumatic complaints in southeast Asian countries.

Snake gall, known to relieve inflammation and coughing, bronchitis, infant pneumonia and some eye diseases, is sometimes soaked in wine which is given to the patient, or mixed with powdered herbs. Snake skin, sprayed with wine and dried, then boiled with medicinal herbs into a soup, makes a good tranquiliser and can be used to treat spasms and epilepsy.

Venom, usually processed ioto a weak solution for injections, is a powerful pain-killer and the ointmeot made from snake fat will promote healing in cases of frostbite and hurns.

"Soake Paradise" hegan in 1977 with 124 snakes caught in the wild, and the breeding programme began the following year.

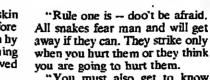

The staff members of "Snake Paradise" have also made a few mistakes of that kind and bites are not unknown. "All snake bites can be dangerous," said Mr. Wen Jiancai, "but we know how to prepare remedies, so we aren't too worried. But we are constantly reminding the snake holders not to get careless.'

"The snakes will die if the skin gets too dry and cracks before shedding begins. We help them hy putting them in water and rubbing them gently and we have saved several snakes like this."

"The higgest problem of all is getting the snakes through hibernation. Most spend six months in hibernation -- from October to March -- during which they need a dry environment away from cold winds.

"The first hibernation holes we prepared were too large and a number of snakes died from the cold. Later, we chose hetter sites with smaller entrances and out of the wind."

Mr. Fei Moli said there are several rules for handling snakes, especially on expeditions to catch wild ones,

"You must also get to know their different habits. For example, the cohra leaves its hole in the morning and at night to catch food, hut it also likes to take a swim about four or five o'clock in the afternoon.

"A shed skin is a giveaway -usually left about 50 metres from the hole where you can dig the snake out

"Once the snake raises its head you just clamp it behind the neck. It's as simple as that." Then he added, with a smile: "After years of practice."

WORLD Police seize Protestant arms, IRA rocket launcher in Belfast

BELFAST, May 27 (A.P.) - Police raided the east Belfast headquarters of the Protestant paramilitary Ulster Defence Association last night and seized arms and ammunition including six home-built Ste-

The Royal Ulster Constabulary police force, whose members are mostly Protestants, has come under sharp criticism from Roman Catholics for directing most of its attention at the Catholics.

Critics have called for a more even-handed policy in combatting Ulster's violent men.

The raid on UDA headquarters was the first conducted there since violence crupted in the British province following the death of jailed IRA guerrilla Bobby Sands and three other hunger-strikers at the Maze prison.

The UDA, which claims 15,000 active members, is a legal organisation, hut its members are not allowed to keep arms. Other Protestant paramilitary groups such as the Ulster volunteer force, Ulsler Freedom Fighters and Red Hand Commando were outlawed during the 1970s, along with the mostly Catholic IRA's militant "Provisional" wing and the Irish National Liberation Army.

The rundown red-brick UDA headquarters building was raided in the small hours of the night and a police spokesman said in addition to the six Sterling 9 mm sub-machine guns, a Thompson sub-machine gun, one .45 revolver and considerable quantities of ammunition were seized.

Police would not say if there were any arrests or if anyone was in the building at the time.

The arms were taken away for ballistics tests to determine if any of the weapons were used in the killing of a Catholic butcher. 38-year-old Patrick Martin, in the Ardoyne district of Belfast two weeks ago. He was shot five times in the head as he slept. The assailants had cut telephone wires in what police described as a very IRA from abroad. Four members of the security professional assassination.

The UFF, considered as the most lethal of the Protestant death squads in the province, later claimed responsibility although police said they would also consider the possibility that the killing was a Catholic reprisal.

Meanwhile, detectives were at the hospital bedside of a man wounded in Belfast's Catholic Falls Road district last night during the capture of the Soviet rockei launcher, several guns, armour-piercing rifle ammunition.

and Balaclava helmets. The man was shot twice in the back by police marksmen as he tried to run away after a police patrol stopped a stolen car carrving two known Provisional IRA gunmen, security sources said. The other suspect in the car was arrested.

A police spokesman said today that they hoped the wounded man would give them information on the RPG-7 missile launcher including whether the IRA has any more of them.

The hand-held RPG-7 which weighs about 4 kilogrammes and is about a metre long, was first used against the police and British army in Northern Ireland in November 1972 and has been employed in more than 180 attacks, on target about 60 times. Nineteen launchers have been

Bomb explodes at Durban ADF recruiting office

DURBAN, South Africa, May 27 (R) — The African Defence Force recruiting centre in Central Durban was bombed early today but a police spokesman said there were no casualties.

The hlast was apparently the latest in a series of sabotage attacks by black nationalist guerrillas during celebrations of the 20th anniversary of the South African republic.

The police spokesman said the bomb exploded outside the door of the recruiting offices, shattering glass in the shopping centre up to the eighth floor.

A defence force spokesman in Pretoria said the offices were unguarded as they were in a civilian complex and not regarded as a possible target.

In Johannesburg last night, Police Minister Louis le Grange predicted early arrests following a series of sabotage attacks on Monday, including the blowing up of railway lines near Johannesburg and outside Durban.

Black urban guerrillas also attacked a police station near East London and a policeman was wounded when he was fired on in the neighbourhood,

Mr. Le Grange said there was no doubt in his mind that the attacks were planned from either Maputo, the Mozambican capital, or Lusaka, Zambia, where the banned African National Congress (ANC) and South African Communist Party have regional offices.

Last January, South African commandos struck at ANC offices near Maputo. Pretoria has warned it will strike again if necessary against countries which harbou'r black nationalist guerrillas threatening South Africa.

In Cape Town, police said about 40 demonstrators carrying placards were arrested outside a conference centre where an international conference is taking place.

The demonstration was apparently in protest against the republic anniversary celebrations. As in lohannesburg, some university students in Cape Town have been staging protest boycotts of classes.

Spanish police uncover tunnel in suspected plot to kill king

BARCELONA, May 27 (A.P.) - Police said today a tunnel discovered here appeared to be part of a plot to kill King Juan Carlos when be presides at a military parade Sunday.

The tunnel, nine feet deep, three feet wide and 4.5 feet long, was discovered last night in a ground floor workshop that Jose Maria Cuevas, the only gunman killed in the weekend seizure of a bank here, rented a month ago, the civil governor's office said. The tunnel runs 40 yards from the route to be followed by the king when be drives to the grandstand to preside at the parade, which climaxes a week of celebrations in bomage to the armed

Discovery of the tunnel, police sources said, followed questioning of the nine gunmen arrested by anti-terrorist commandos who stormed the bank Sunday to free the last of more than 70 hostages held in the bank for 37 bours.

Political sources said discovery of the tunnel was the clearest evidence that the bank seizure was part of a plot against the newly-born Spanish democracy three months after an abortive right-wing military coup to topple the government. Gunmen at the bank demanded release of four military officers, charged in the attempted coup, including Lt. Col. Antonio Tejero who led 285 paramilitary Civil Guards in storming the parliament in Madrid on Feb. 23 and beld its 350 members hostage 18 hours.

The leader of the gunmen, identified as Jose Juan Martinez Gomez, 25, told police he had been hired to carry out the bank assault by a Spaniard who identified himself as an ultra-rightist.

Martinez, police said, said be was paid 1.5 million pesetas ($16,000), one-third of the amount he bad been offered for the completed job. He said similar amounts would have been paid to each of the other nine gunmen. Premier Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo said yesterday that be could not yet give "an adequate answer" to the question of who bad financed the bank assault.

He said, however, it was clear it had been politically motivated. An underground blast in Madrid by commandos of ETA, the Basque separatist organisatioo, in 1974 killed premier Adm. Luis Carrero Blanco, the right-arm of the then chief of state Gen. Francisco Franco.

Police sources said it appeared the tunnel found this week was. for a similar attempt, this time on the king.

King Juan Carlos lately has become the target of attacks from right-wing groups that blamed him for baving thwarted the February coup attempt through his personal intervention and iofluence with military leaders.

Hunger-strike in Poland

WARSAW, May 27 (R) - Five Polish bunger-strikers, in the eighth day of a fast to campaign for the release of so-called political pri-soners, have been joined by three others, the protest organisers said today.

They said six further hunger-strikers plan to join in the protest tonight at the Medical Academy in the Baltic port of Gdansk.

The original five are fasting under medical supervision at a factory in the southern town of Sosnowiec. The three who joined them last night are fasting in another part of the town.

They said in a statement: "Even if our horneland should become another Northern Ireland we shall continue to fast until we see the people whom we are struggling to liberate and shake hands with them.

.Studentsstaged marches and demonstrations across the country on Monday to press for the release of seven people said to be in jails for their political beliefs. A parliamentary commission bas promised to review the cases of all seven.

A spokeswoman for the hunger strikers, Teresa Baranowska, said those planning to join the protest in Gdansk include a top official of the local Solidarity union branch Andrzej Kolociziej and Dariusz Kobsdej, head of the Solidarity-sponsored National Committee for Polnical Prisoners.

World Cup group one decider today

VIENNA, May 27 (R) - The battle between Austria and Bul garia for the second European group one qualifying place beh ind West Germany in the World Soccer Cup finals could be virtually decided when the two teams meet here tomorrow. Austria and Bulgaria are equal second in the group with six point. from four games, both having lost to leaders West Germany, who have eight from four. Bulgarian coach Atanas Purzhelov has beet. quoted as saying that the second qualifier for next year's finals in-Madrid could be decided here tomorrow. However, Austrian coach Karl Stotz was more cautious." The final counting will come at the end of the round, possibly at our last game on November 11 in Sofia or even 10 days later at the West Germany-Bulgaria; meeting in Germany," he said. Austria, who reached the World-Cup finals in 1978 for the first time in 20 years, will field three strikers tomorrow. The main surprise is that Christian Keglevits, who made a brilliant debut against Hungary last October but has had trouble maintaining the form. comes into the attack instead of last year's top scorer Walter Schachner, who is below his best after an injury and will be a substitute tomorrow. Austria have also had to find a replacement for the injured Bernd Krauss, who made his debut in Austria's 2-0 defeat by the West Germans. Storz has opted for goalkeeper Herbert Feurer over Friedi Koncilia, both ol whom are in top form. Austria will be relying beavily on the experienced and talented quintet Bruno Pezzey, Roland Hat-tenberger, Herbert Prohaska, Kurt Hara and new captain Hans-Krankl, who average 50 international caps. Bulgaria are expected to field the team that beat Finland 4-0 which compared with Austria's 2-0 victory over the Finns. Purzhelov said he would not announce his team from a 16-strong squad until tomorrow.

Nuerburgring race circuit financed

BONN, May 27 (R) - Finance approval by the Bonn Parliament has cleared the way for West Germany's controversial Nuerburgring race circuit to make a Grand Prix comeback in 1983, the management said today. The decision, taken yesterday by the Bundestag (Lower House) budget committee, commits Bonn to paying $17 million towards a new, shorter track on the same site, in the Eifel hills south-west of Bonn. The existing Nuerburgring, probably the toughest race track in the world, has been boycotted on safety grounds by Formula One drivers since the 1976 German Grand Prix, when Austrian ex-world champion Niki Lauda was critically injured. Just two days before the committee decision, Swisssports car driver Herbert Mueller burned to deatb after his Porsche hit a car parked off the track with mechanical trouble during the annual 1,000 kilometres sports car race. Mueller, 41 was the 144tb fatality on the snaking, 22.8 km track since it was built in 1927 to provide jobs and tourist revenue for the local population. ... /
